

'Win A Wedding' winners

Gina and Laurie, winners of the 2010, 'Win A Wedding' competition, were married at the hotel in October.

The happy couple enjoyed a civil ceremony, three course wedding breakfast, evening buffet and a night in the luxurious Cathedral Suite completely free of charge. For more information on our wedding facilities visit www.swanhotelwells.co.uk/weddings.

While much of the economic news over the past 12 months has been pretty gloomy, many of our guests have had cause to celebrate.

The hotel has hosted christenings, weddings, birthdays, anniversaries and charitable fund-raising parties aplenty. In 2011, over 4,000 people celebrated a special occasion with us! A big thank you to everyone who chose the hotel as their celebratory venue.

One of the largest lunches that we hosted last year was in aid of the cancer support charity Macmillan. This fantastic organisation was originally formed by a Somerset man named Douglas Macmillan, born around 12 miles from the hotel. Hosting this lunch for over 100 guests was our Food and Beverage Manager, and local Macmillan Chairman, Mark Tobin.

There is an old saying that you have to 'speculate to accumulate' and this can certainly be applied to the hotel industry.

A successful hotel has to constantly improve, so before our busy Christmas period a plethora of tradesmen descended on our lounge area for three weeks. You can see the finished result inside. Other exciting works are planned in 2012.

Looking ahead, the hotel is well placed to move up to the next tier within the new Best Western ratings. Being a member of Best Western enables the hotel to feature in global advertising campaigns, while maintaining its independence. You can find out more about this and catch up on other news and offers over the page.

I hope to be able to welcome you back to the hotel soon.

Best Western PLUS

Being a member of Best Western doesn't mean that the hotel is part of a large chain.

Each one of the 290 UK Best Western hotels is independently owned and run. So, our experienced management team and local owner make all the decisions, large and small. Every year the hotel has to pass a thorough inspection by the Best Western Quality Assessment team and is also judged by The AA and VisitBritain.

A future goal is to attain Best Western PLUS status, which recognises those hotels offering extra style, comfort and service.

A room to lounge in

The lounge is the latest area of the hotel to undergo a makeover.

While many of the improvements involved structural work that isn't visible, returning guests should notice the renovated sash windows, new fire and fresh decor.

Olympic torch comes to Wells

The Olympic torch will pass through Wells on Tuesday 22 May, day four of its 8,000 mile journey around Britain.

Scooping silver

The hotel has retained its Silver award from VistEngland.

These unique awards are given in recognition of exceptional quality within a property's star rating, or for outperforming a star rating.

“Confident and professional team clearly committed to guest care are a credit to the owner and manager.”

Ian Laflin, VisitEngland. Quality in Tourism report November 2011

Charity walk

Extreme weather conditions and illness put paid to hotel owner Kevin Newton's charitable quest to scale Mount .

Kevin valiantly made it to the last camp at 16,000 ft. He hopes to return next year to conquer the summit.
